

STONE CITY REVIEW

The Stone City Off Road Races at Bedford Indiana were held on Saturday Aug 23. Track owner and promoter Phil Johnson has built a 3/4 mile track featuring 14 jumps. The wide open layout gave the 27 entries plenty of racing room. Phil and Happy's Auto did quite a bit of promoting and brought out several new "Woods Buggies" for our Class 12.

Charleston Speedway

MAORA returns to the Charleston Speedway Sunday Sept 7. There will be camping available Saturday night. Any member that would like to run an exhibition race Saturday night during the stock car intermission see Richard when you get to the track. MAORA will have a pit pass for you, but you MUST be a member.

There has been some confusion with the pit gate procedure on Sunday. The club supplies the volunteers to staff the gates, so when tech closes at 11am so does the pit gate and the volunteers move to the spectator gate. Also starting at 11am the registration volunteers start preparing their score sheets and sorting entries by classes. They prepare the Chief starters list, the list of entries for the announcers and the race director. This is the reason MAORA closes tech and registration at 11am.

Casey Fall Classic

Its that time again. LTOR and MAORA present the 2003 Fall Classic at Lincoln Trail Motosports Park Sept 27 & 28.

Saturday is the MAORA Short Course Series finally. Sunday the Endurance series concludes. Both of the Series will have Class Championships up for grabs. This is traditionally MAORA's biggest weekend of the season.

Saturday night the club is having a pot luck Hog Roast. The club will supply the meat and table settings, members and guests are asked to bring a side dish. Free camping is available Friday thru Sunday.

There will be more seat time available this weekend than some Series offer for the season. Three heat races per Class are offered on Saturday and Sunday features a 200 km 3½ hour endurance challenge. The last race is the one that is "bench raced" all winter so don't be left out.
